Illustrated by GARTH WILLIAMS

HOWELL, SOSKIN, PUBLISHERS

There are ordinary chickens, like Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth Rocks, and White Leghorns.

There are patrician chickens, like Japanese Silkies.

But Garth Williams' chickens are unique fowl, with characters, morals, dispositions all their own.

Here in THE CHICKEN BOOK is the famous illustrator's barnyard—a lovely place, in lovely color, and with a lovely moral every chicken should take to heart.

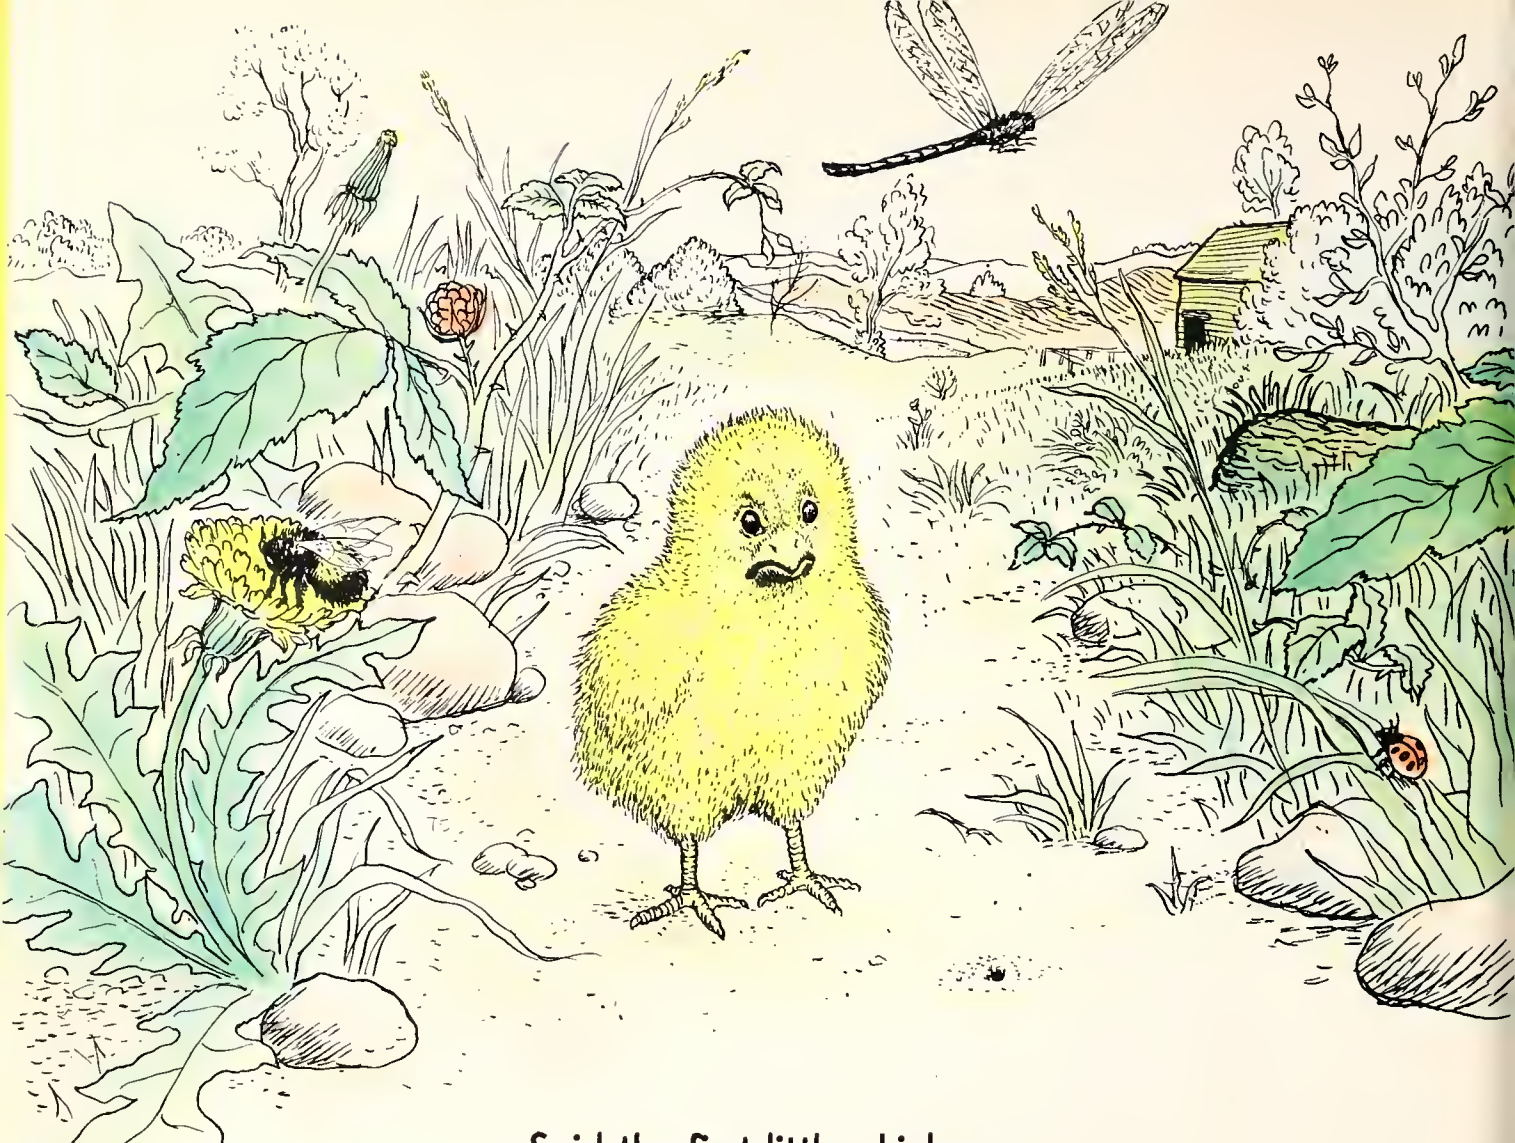
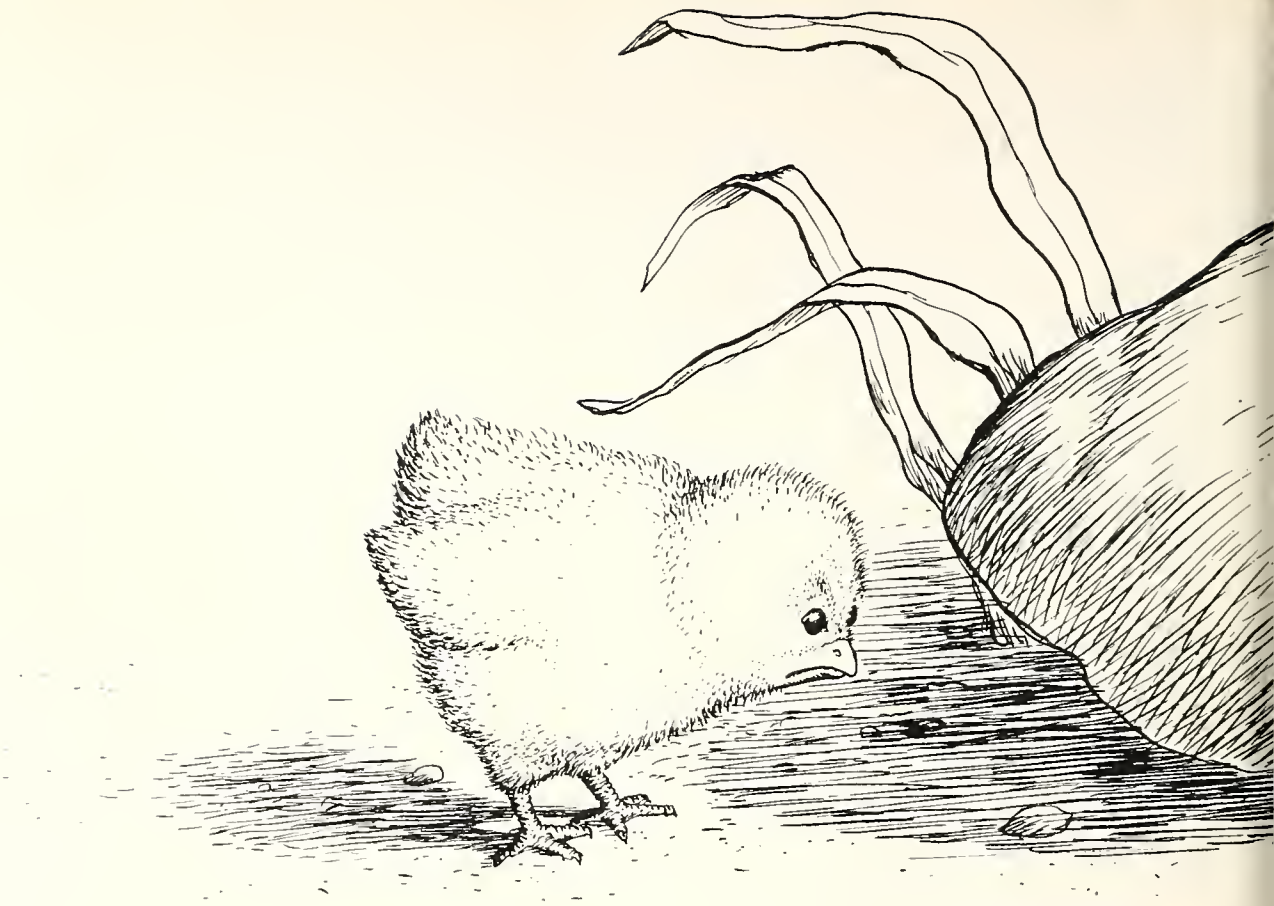
The Chicken Book



Said the first little chicken,

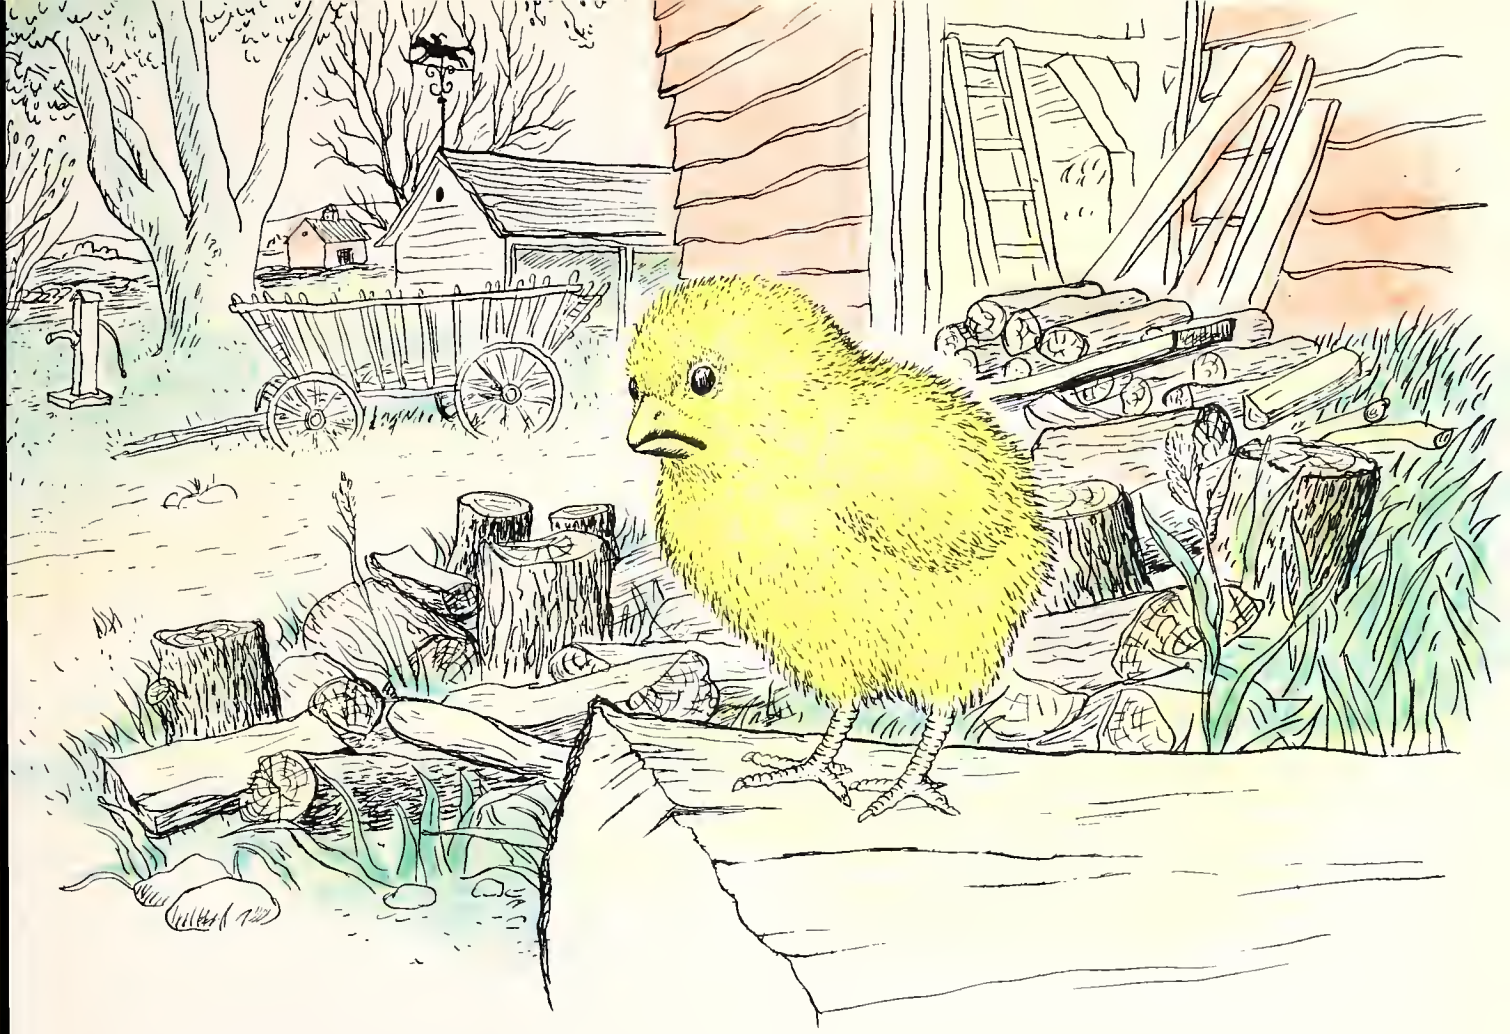
With a queer little squirm,



"I wish I could find

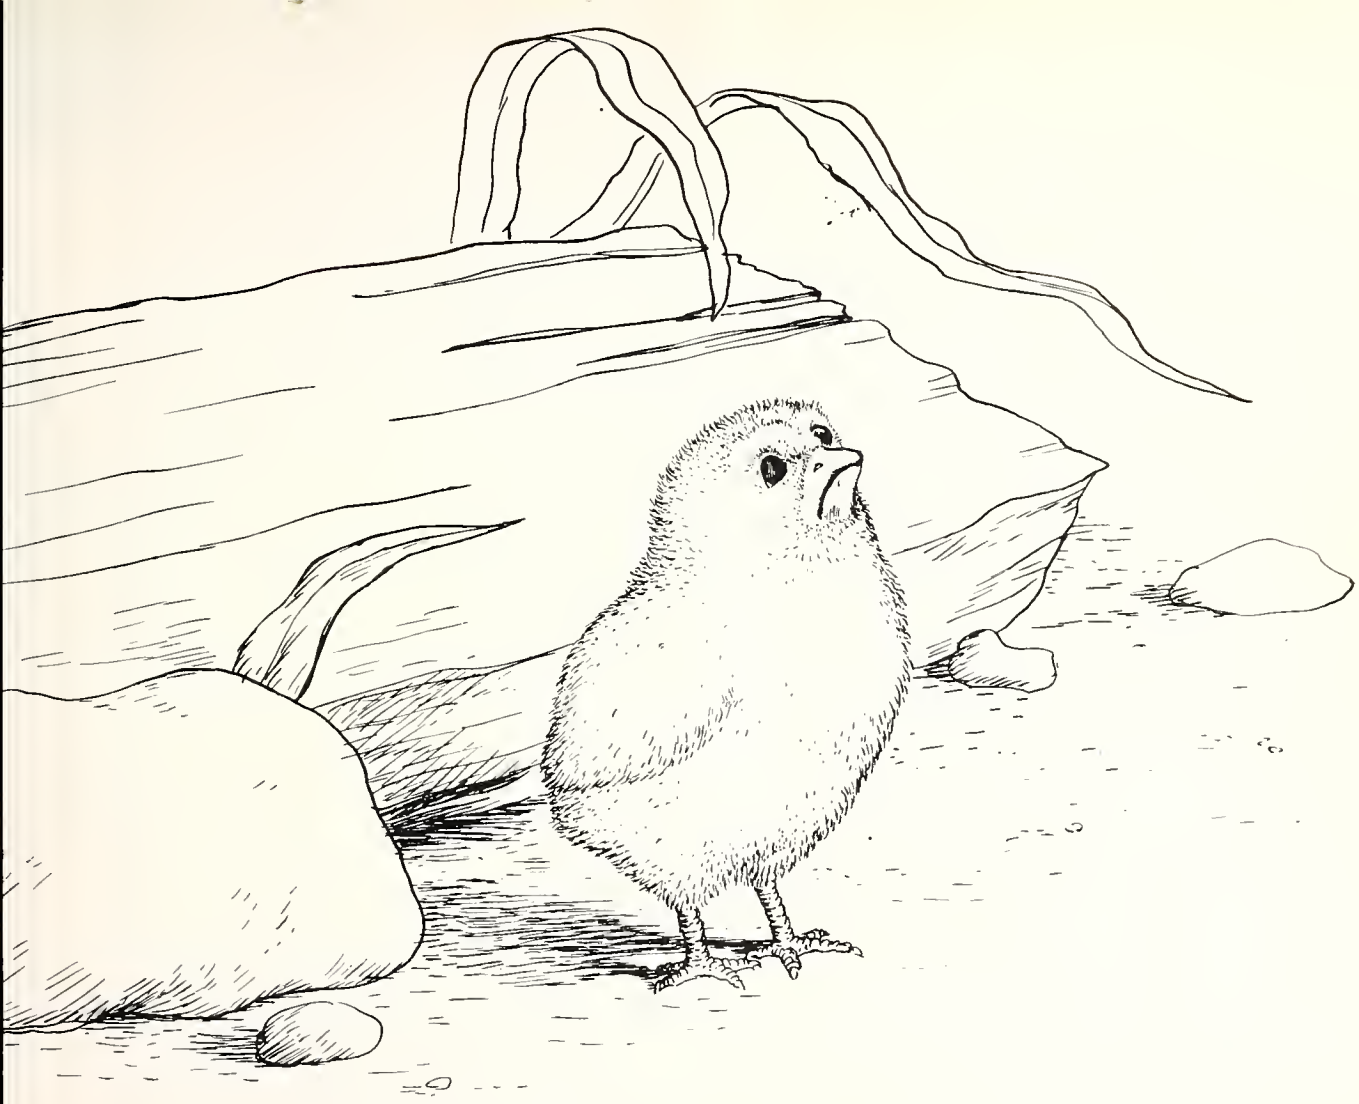
A fat little worm."

Said the next little chicken,



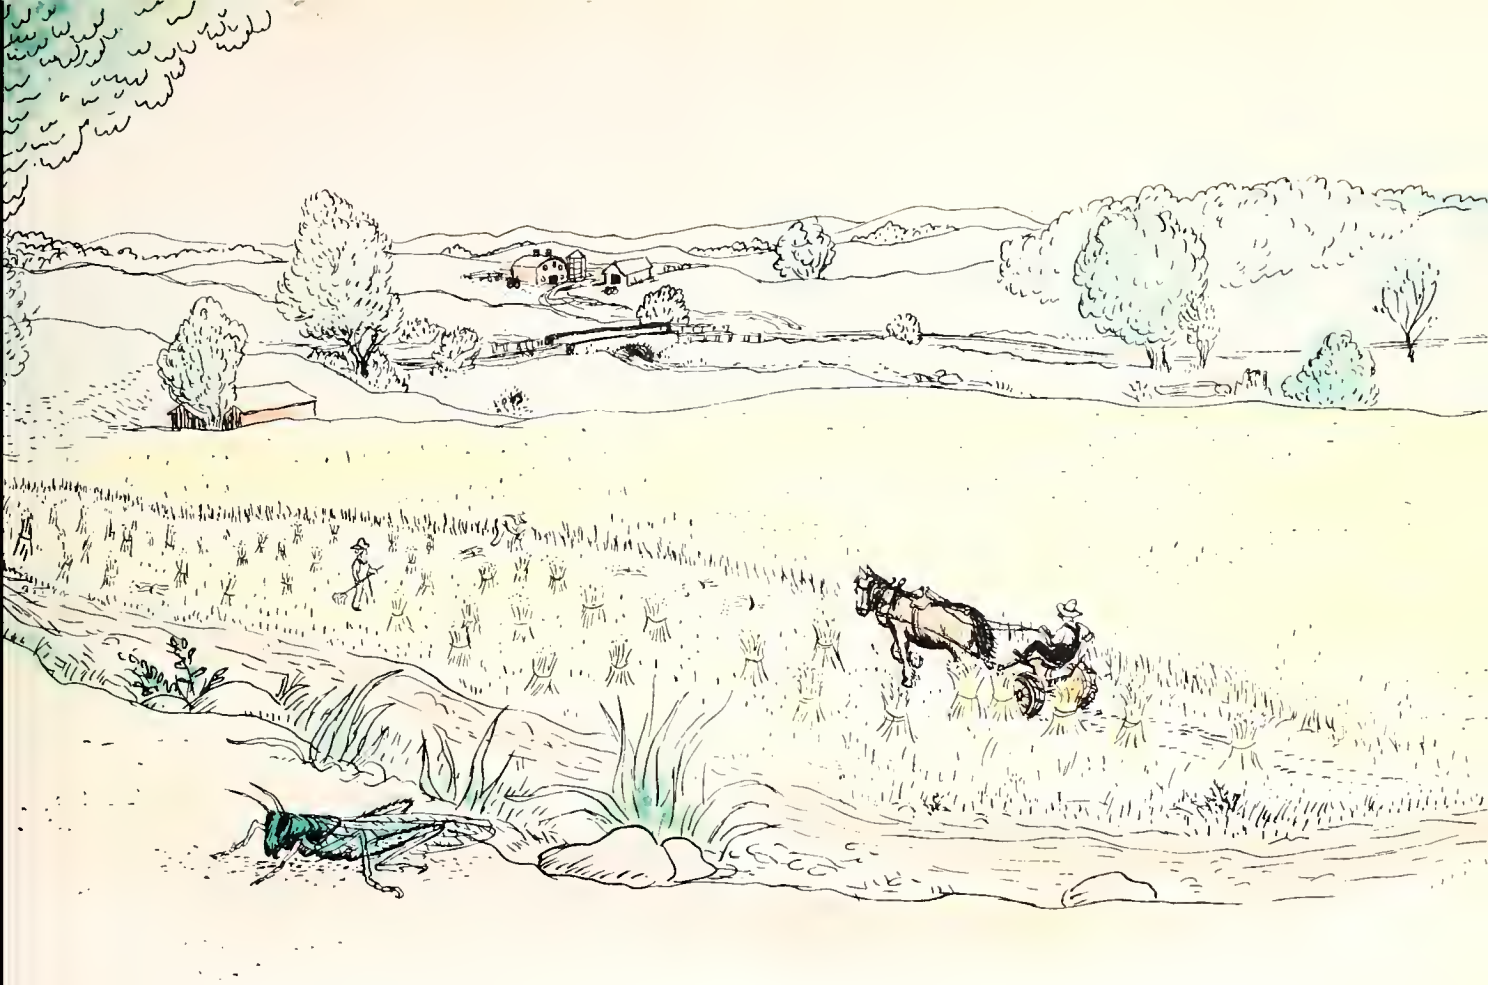
With an odd little shrug,

"I wish I could find



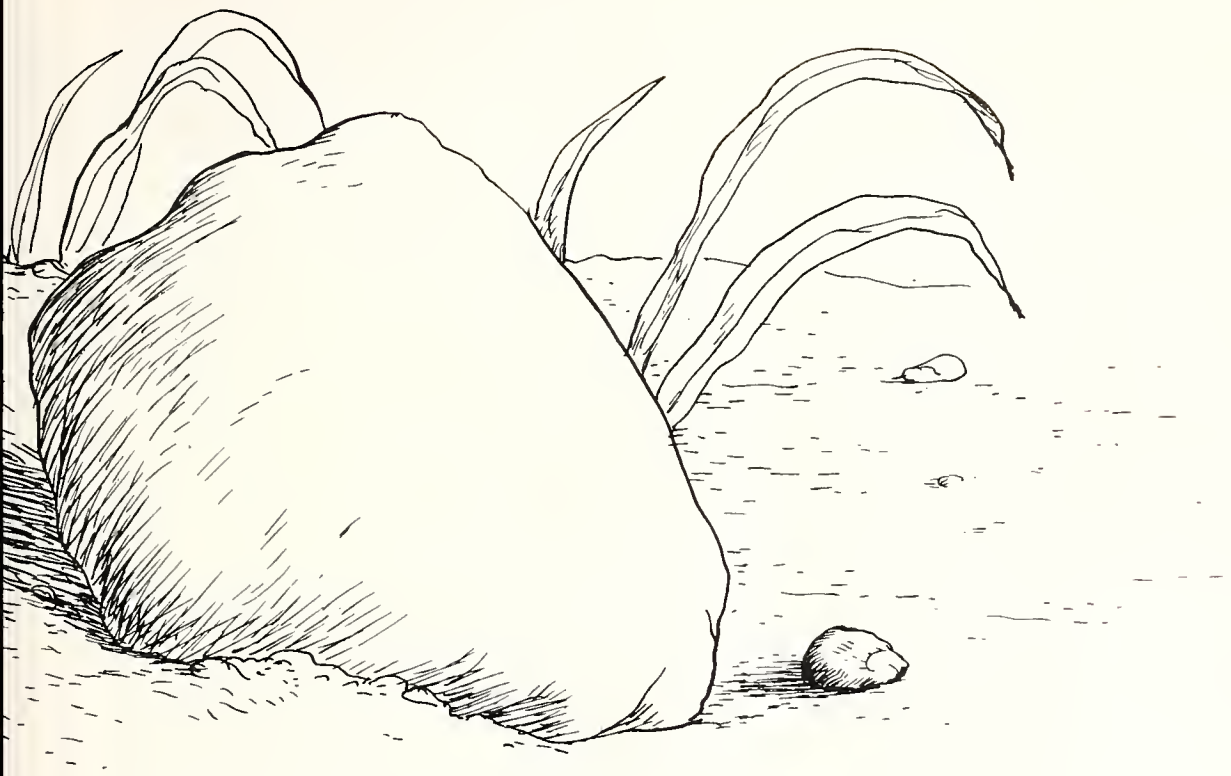
A fat little slug."

Said the third little chicken,



With a sharp little squeal,

"I wish I could find

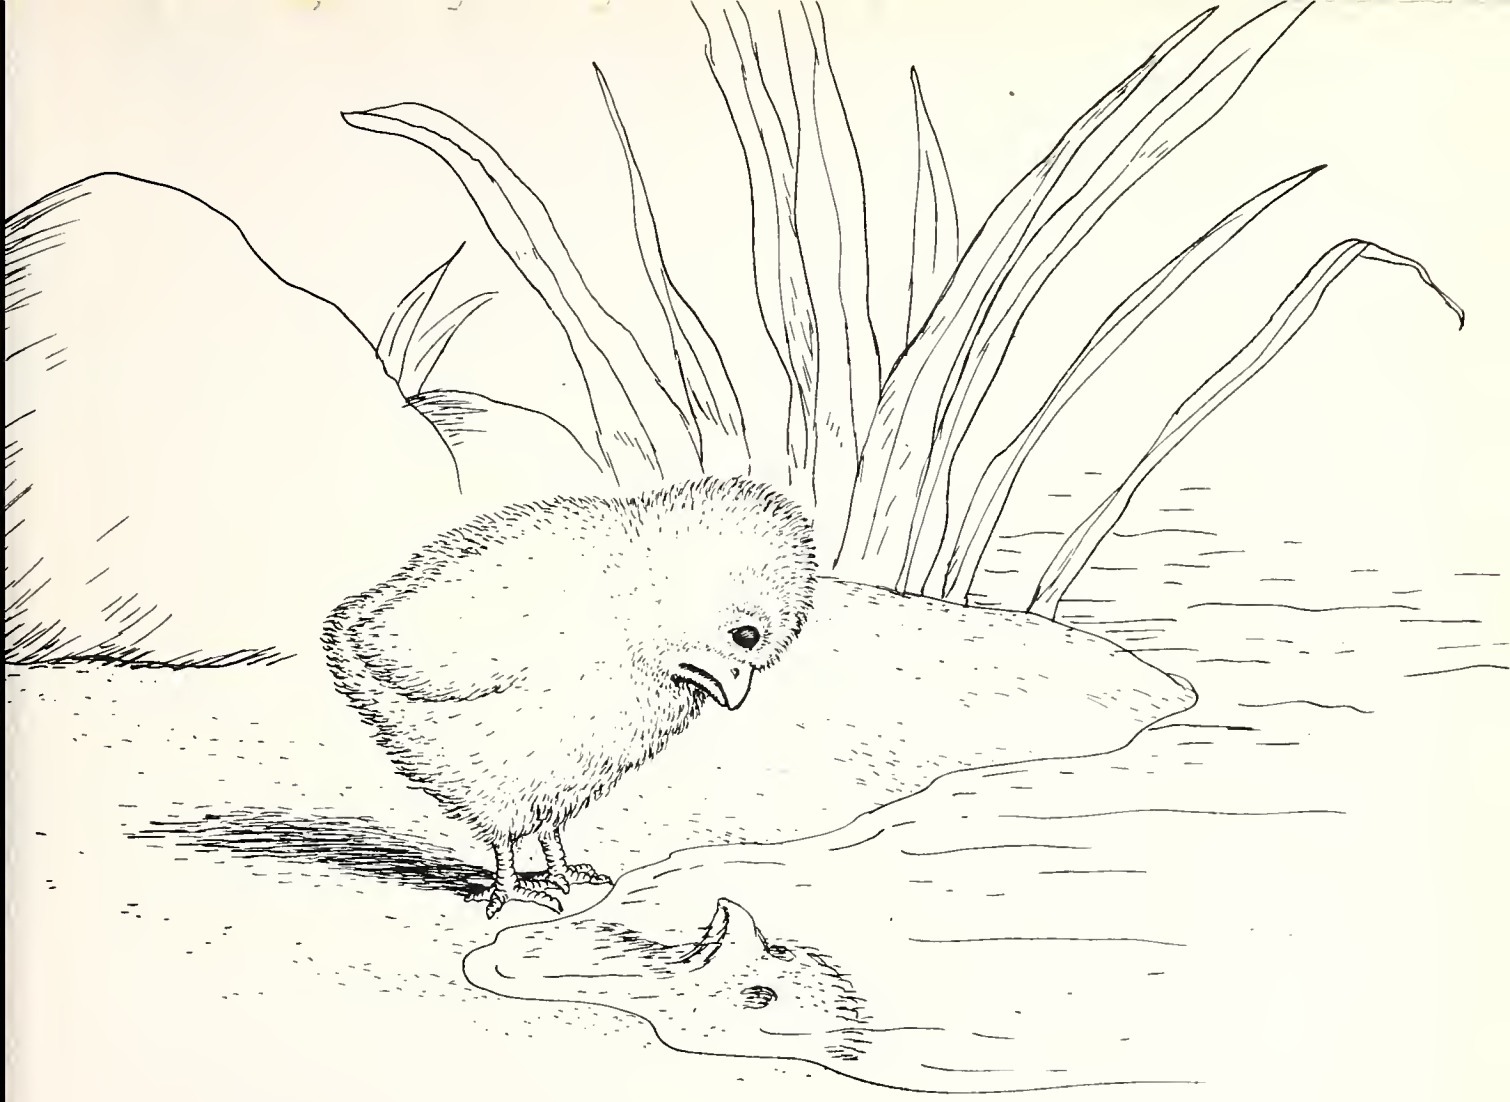


Some nice yellow meal."

Said the fourth little chicken,

With a small sigh of grief,

"I wish I could find

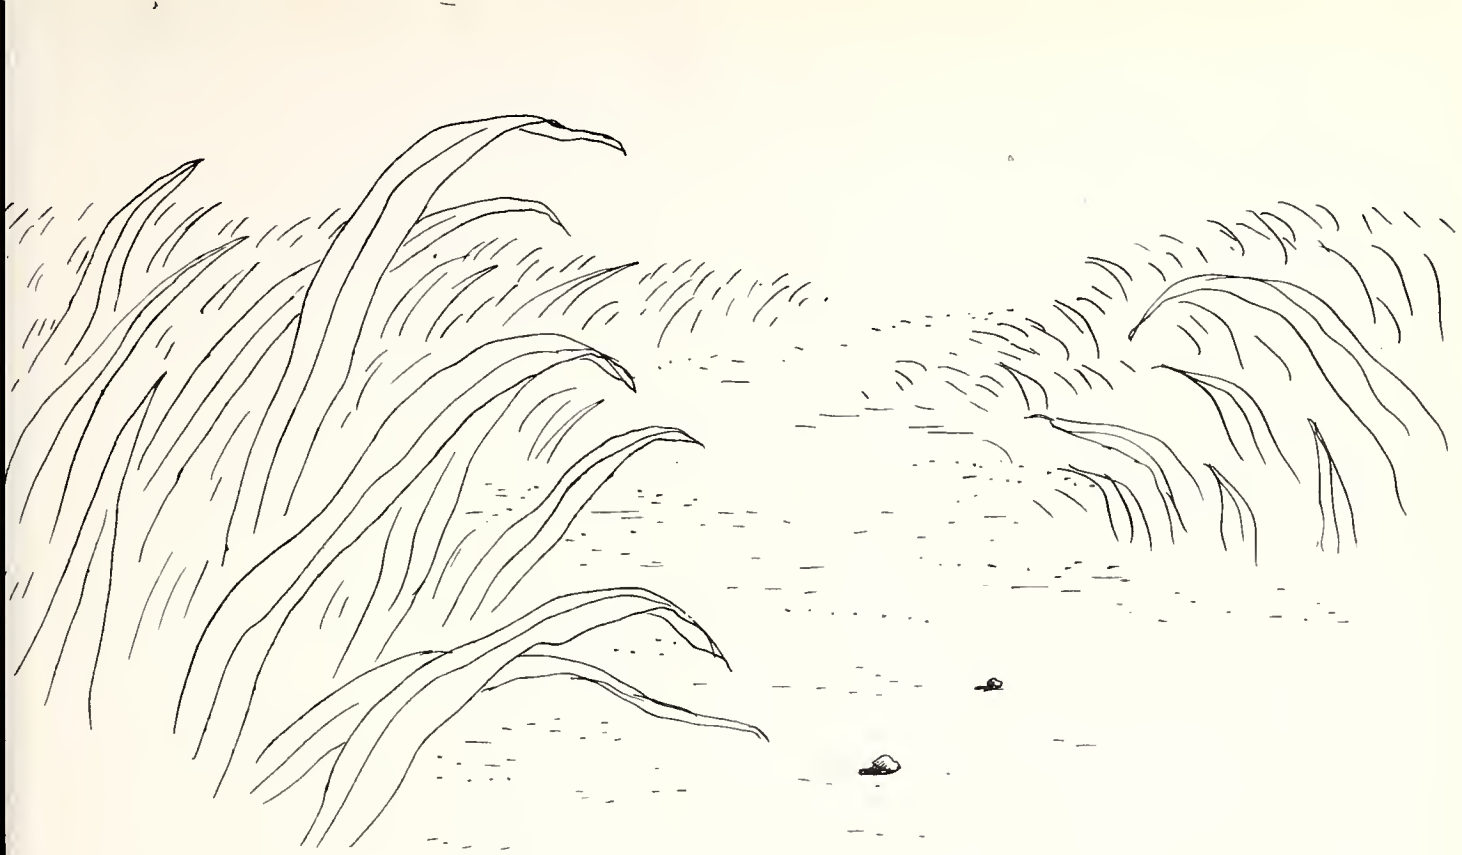


A little green leaf."

Said the fifth little chicken,

With a faint little moan,

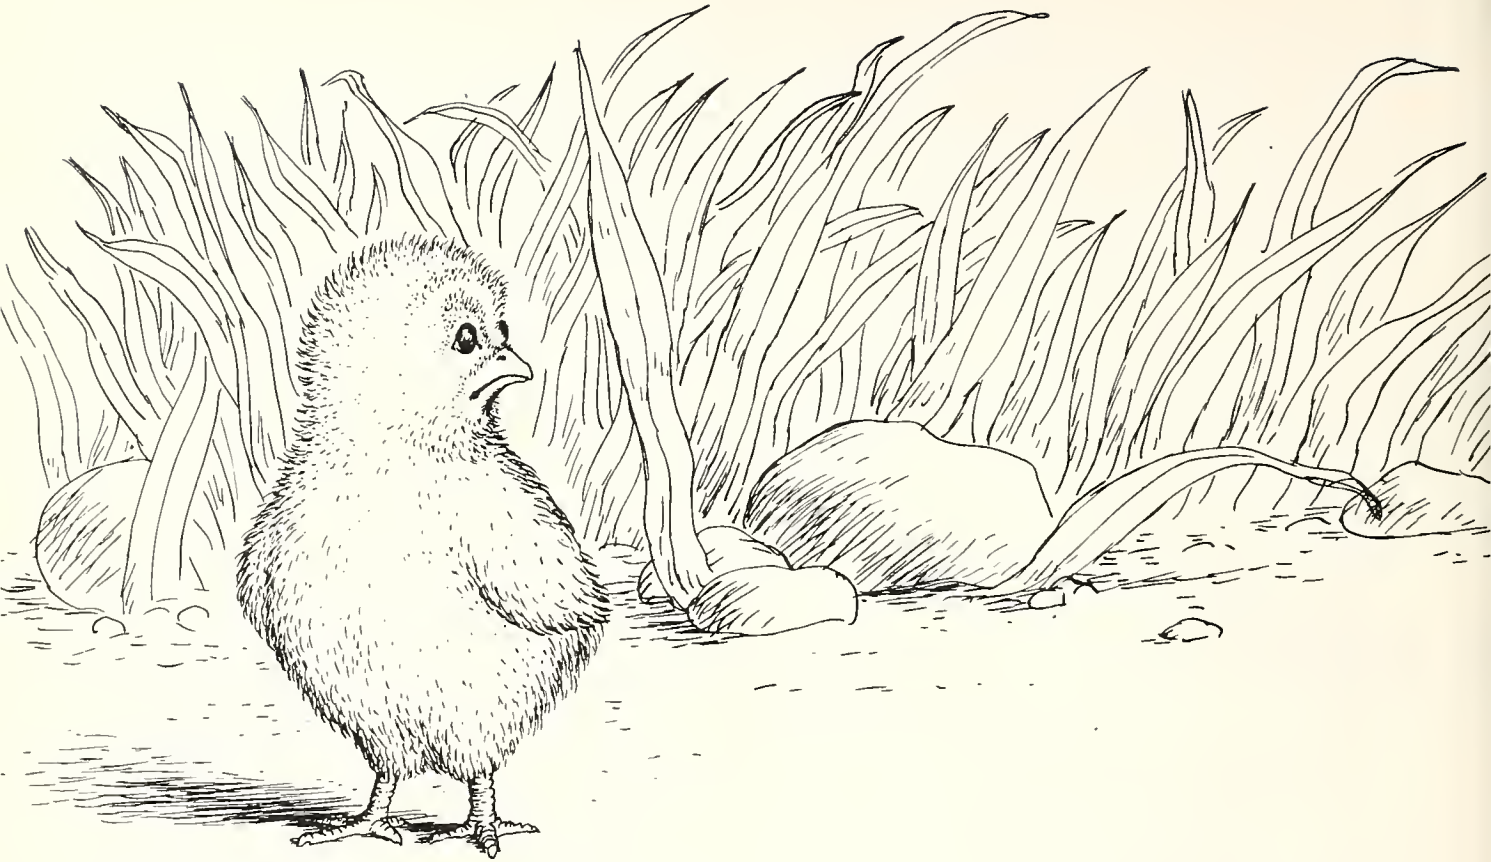
"I wish I could find



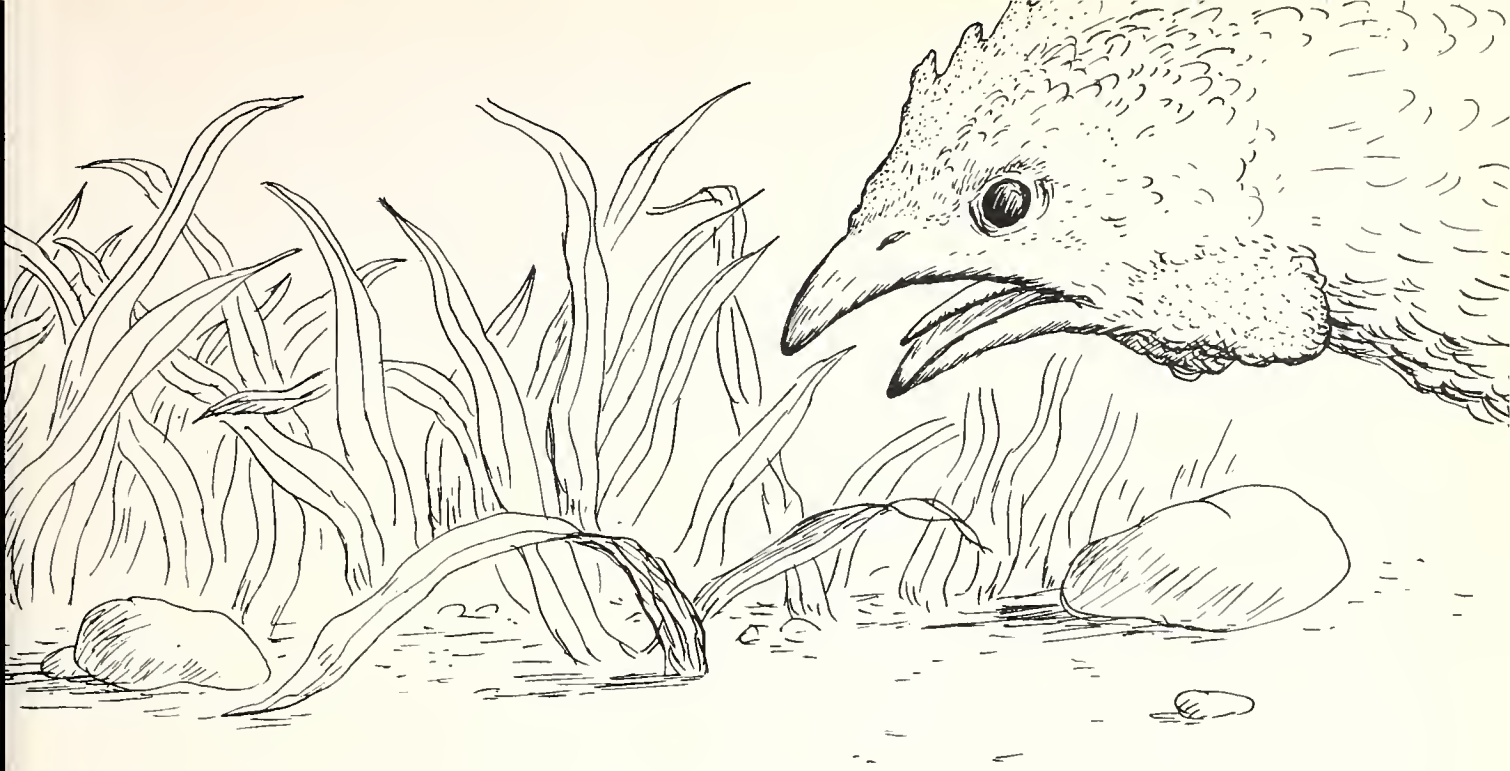
A wee gravel stone."

"Now, see here," said the mother,

From the green garden patch,



"If you want



any breakfast,

Just come here and

SCRATCH!"

WHO LIKES THE DARK?

Most children don't, but when they understand the magic of the night and all the wonderful things that happen after sundown, they lose all their fears.

Here is a book, a cozy bedtime story designed to make night pleasant for small children.
